What is the Impact Framework?

An Impact Framework is a structured approach that helps mission-driven organizations define and operationalize their impact - allowing teams to identify, measure, and communicate their social or environmental impact.

Why is this important?

UpMetrics' impact measurement and management platform helps purpose-driven organizations maximize positive social outcomes by making it easy to collect and use data to measure, improve, and report on impact - then share their story with the world. This structure is valuable in creating a data-driven story of impact and tying quantitative measures to how your organization is driving towards the success of your vision.
